Counselors at these colleges recommend you start the admissions process no later than January of your senior year so you can meet Priority 1 registration deadlines for subsequent fall classes.

MILITARY CAREERS

Students looking for information about career opportunities in the Armed Services will find useful information at the following Web sites...

ASVAB -- A career test required by the military that identifies occupations best matched to an individual's abilities. All seniors wishing to enlist in military service should see Mrs. Seider in the College & Career Center and get signed up for the November ASVAB test. (Other students who aren't enlisting can also take the ASVAB to find careers that would be a good match for them, too!) To learn more about the ASVAB, visit the following link <http://todaysmilitary.com/joining/asvab-test> todaysmilitary.com -- Learn all about the benefits and opportunities military service has to offer!

Job Opportunities in the Armed Forces -- In-depth information from the United States Department of Labor about work conditions, training, employment outlook, earnings and more for enlisted and officer occupational groups in today's Armed Forces. www.bls.gov/ooh/Military/Military-Careers.htm
