The Works Cited page is the list of sources used in the research paper. It should be its own page at the end of the paper.

Double space the entire list of sources.

Use hanging indentation for each entry. Begin each entry flush with the left margin; indent all subsequent lines one-half inch.

Arrange entries in alphabetical order by the first term in each entry (the first author's last name or the title of the work when there is no author).

Continue with the numbering convention used throughout the paper by including your last name and the page number in the upper right-hand corner of the Works Cited page.
